

REMARKS

In accordance with the foregoing, FIG. 6B has been amended to include reference to Notes 6), 7), 8), and 9). Proper support for such amendments may be found in at least paragraphs [0076] through [0079].

In accordance with the foregoing, claims 1 and 8 have been amended and claim 2 has been canceled without prejudice or disclaimer. Claim 1 has been amended to include at least some features of claim 2. Claim 8 has been amended to include at least similar features to claim 2. Claims 1 and 3 through 13 are pending and under consideration. No new matter is presented in this Amendment.

DOUBLE PATENTING

Claims 1 and 3 through 13 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-13 of copending Application No. 10/647,443.

Claims 1 and 3 through 13 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-11 of copending Application No. 10/647,445.

The applicant has filed a terminal disclaimer to overcome the provisional rejections.

REJECTIONS UNDER 35 U.S.C. §102:

Claims 1 and 3 through 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(e) as being anticipated by Lamkin et al. (U.S. Patent 7,178,106). The applicant respectfully traverses.

Lamkin discloses an enhanced DVD application program interface (API) to allow DVD authors to integrate content from the Internet (col. 4, lines 60-65.) The user interacts with the content, and instructions are transmitted to various components of the DVD apparatus, via the API (col. 12, lines 57-62.)

In contrast, claim 1 recites, inter alia, that the ENAV engine allows the key input event to occur using first event information written in the markup document. As such, Lamkin does not disclose all the features of claim 1 as amended. The Examiner asserts that Lamkin discloses such feature of claim 1 in Col. 19, lines 44 through 47. (Office action at 7). However, the apparatus of Lamkin loads a special page VIDPLAY.htm in response to a pressing of the play button if no video is being displayed and such special file is present in the /COMMON directory of an inserted disk ROM. Lamkin therefore does not disclose that the ENAV engine informs, by default, the AV playback engine of the occurrence of the key input event, and allows the key input event to occur using first event information written in the markup document. Accordingly, Lamkin does not disclose all the elements of claim 1 and the rejection should be withdrawn.

Claims 3 through 7 depend on claim 1 and are deemed patentable for at least the reasons given above with respect to claim 1.

REJECTIONS UNDER 35 U.S.C. §103:

Claims 8-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over Lamkin et al. (U.S. Patent 7,178,106) in view of Kanazawa et al. (U.S. Patent 6,580,870). The applicant respectfully traverses.

Claim 8 as amended recites that ENAV engine allows the key input event signal to occur using first event information written in the markup document. As discussed above with respect to claim 1, Lamkin does not disclose this feature. The Examiner has not indicated how Kanazawa rectifies this deficiency, and the applicant believes that Kanazawa also does not disclose this feature. Accordingly, the combination of Lamkin and Kanazawa does not disclose that the ENAV engine informs, by default, the AV playback engine of the occurrence of the key input event, and allows the key input event to occur using first event information written in the markup document. Therefore, the rejection of claim 8 should be withdrawn.

Claims 9 through 13 depend from claim 8 and are deemed patentable for at least the reasons given above with respect to claim 8.

CONCLUSION:

There being no further outstanding objections or rejections, it is submitted that the application is in condition for allowance. An early action to that effect is courteously solicited.

Finally, if there are any formal matters remaining after this response, the Examiner is requested to telephone the undersigned to attend to these matters.

If there are any additional fees associated with filing of this Amendment, please charge the same to our Deposit Account No. 503333.

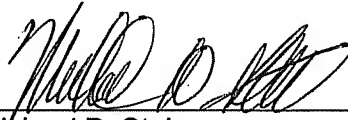

Respectfully submitted,
